

Right-wing attention on Talarico spiked on Sunday

After unverified claims that the Democratic Senate nominee was discharged from a mental health hospital, right-wing influencers posted about him more frequently than at any other point this year.

